THE CRIMINAL LIBEL CASE

THE editor and manager of the Tonopah Bonanza was yesterday afternoon served with a warrant of arrest on the charge of criminal libel. The complaining witnesses are the district attorney, by name Sanders, and the county commissioners.

The officials who complained to the justice and received the warrant must have been certain that the Bonanza had no justification for its criticisms and that the defendant in the action would "lie down." The said defendant, one of the oldest newspaper men in harness in the state, enjoys the record of having been arrested oftener for libel than any other publisher in the commonwealth. It is also of record that he has proven his cause in each instance to be just.

The Bonanza has refrained from showing its hand in this case, but has simply warned the quadruplate that runs the affairs of the county to act fairly and within the law. If it should evidence in the defense, should the silly case go as far as to make a defense necessary, that the county funds have not been handled as the law requires, then there might be a turning of the tables and a general unpleasantness that would rise to the proportions of a stink. Well, let 'er go. Turn loose both barrels. The Bonanza is still on its toes and the taxpayers are with it.

PROTECTION FOR ALL OR FOR NONE

TARIFF law which gives protection to one industry, or part of an industry, and denies it to other industries, or parts of industries, justifies the objections to protection based upon its imposition as a matter of favor, rather than of national principle. Either there should be protection for all, free-trade for all, or a tariff for revenue framed without regard to its effect upon domestic industry. Any other course makes of the tariff a vast instrument of special privilege. This would be the effect of the policy proposed by those advocates of government by commission who would create a body without convictions as to the general policy of the government toward all industry, but would deal only with the attitude of the government toward specific industries.

The sum of protection should shine for all or it should shine for no one. It is a cardinal principle of Americanism that every citizen should have the equal protection of the law. This paper believes that protection for every legitimate industry and interest is the just due of the American producer. It believes that a tariff law which is a hedge podge of protection and free-trade, prepared without any underlying policy as to the propriety or wisdom of the general tariff principle, represents special privilege by governmental favor. What we need is to minimize and not increase that factor in tariff making.

Of course, there is only one way in a republic in which a national policy can be determined. That is at the polls. The next opportunity comes in 1916.

WHERE PATRIOTISM IS A MOCKERY

WHEN an anarchist assassinated two members of a reigning family in Serbia, war was declared between two nations, although it was not an international matter, but one for the local peace officers to investigate and for local courts to punish the criminal. Yet the incident plunged the two nations into war and nearly a score of other countries followed, causing the loss of many millions of lives, and many billions of dollars in treasure, devastating fertile plains and smiling villages.

Of the nations that intervened and joined the struggle, none was concerned with the assassination. Each and all was seeking to right an ancient wrong, or rather to revenge it, despite the right, while it is growing more and more palpable that many of them were forced into the conflict. Rumania and Greece are evidences that pressure is being brought to bear to have them enter the lists without desire for conflict. Little San Marino forms an example of the influences that are being used. Switzerland stands firm, for it is divided in language and religion and is as firmly ensconced on its mountains as are the unconquerable Basques of the Pyrenees.

Half the people who are now engaged in the world war do not know any more why they are fighting than do the ignorant peons of Mexico, nor are their hearts in sympathy with their cause. All these people love their native land and would defend it from invasion, but they are led to the slaughter in a cause which they do not understand, or with which they have no sympathy.

WHY BRITANNIA IS NOT STERLING

IT is alleged that a party of British generals on the western front engaged in a game of bridge which lasted nearly all night and that they were soundly slumbering when the usual morning engagement took place, with result that the allies were forced from their trenches and heavy slaughter ensued. It is not long since that a correspondent of high standing in the literary world commented upon the habit of British officers to engage in following the hounds far in the rear of the battle lines and to be more concerned with their baths and their valeting than with the discipline of their commands.

These reports may or may not be true, but the burden of proof seems now to be placed upon the defendant. England has accomplished practically nothing in this war. It has expended vast treasure and its territorial gains have lost heavily, but it holds but a trivial portion of the western front, while its expedition against the Turks at the Dardanelles has thus far resulted in utter failure.

LAY IN A SUPPLY OF NEVADA SPUDS

THE quality of Idaho potatoes is excellent, although inferior to those grown in Nevada, where the blue ribbon always comes in competition with other states. Yet the Idaho crop this year falls 60 per cent short of the average and there will be no importations here, unless at a greatly advanced price. The crop in California is also short this season and the quality is, as usual, far below what a potato should be.

Meanwhile Nevada has had its usual tonnage and the quality is as usual of the best. Lay in your supply for the winter now and insist upon the Nevada grown. You will thus save money and be assured of having the best quality.

WHY TONOPAH IS UNTIDY

THE garbage man had an extra wagon on this morning and had arrangements made for the burning and removal of all accumulation of weeds and other rubbish before Thanksgiving. For the past month he had advertised his plans, but he found this morning that only two property owners had complied. It was a proposition which would have cost them no money and only a small amount of effort, but they failed to comply. Perhaps the condition of the city is largely due to the property owners themselves. Certainly the garbage man could have done no more. The advertising and the placing of the extra team in commission were at his own expense.

Our total imports from October 3, 1913, to July 1, 1914, were $1,606,150.

312. The total amount of revenue collected from duties on these imports were $229,461,967. Republican protective rates of 1909 applied to this volume of imports would have collected and put in the treasury $330,815,211, an increase of over $101,000,000. That money in hand right now would help a whole lot in considering the question of national defence.

When the president goes walking he carries, we are told by a veracious Washington correspondent, a pocketful of crumbs to feed to the birds, of which, the despatch adds, he is very fond. We thought as much, when, following the elections of 1914, he handed out so many pocketfuls of crumbs to the Democratic lame ducks in Congress.

There were five congressional by-elections this year. Republican candidates were successful in four of them.

CLIPPED AND CREDITED

Just for a change, and to break the monotony, we are removing the letter of the chairman of the board of county commissioners from the front page. For one thing, we do not think it anything to be proud of, at least, not to the extent of blazoning the shortcomings of our elected "Dads" to the world at large. We will, however, take pains to bring it out from our files on or about next fall.—Carra Obelisk.

If William Jennings Bryan had been a cowboy and had gone to a dance hall and had been thrown out three times that wouldn't have convinced HIM that he wasn't wanted in there.—Boston Transcript.
